James And Kehrer To Play At All Campus Dance Tonight In SUB Blue Grass Ballroom

To Play Continuous Music

Dean Holmes Gives Late Permission To Girls On Campus

Jimmy James and Charlie Kehrer and their bands will provide continuous music tonight for the first two-band campus-wide dance ever held at UK.

The dance will be held from 8 to 12:30 p.m. in the Blue Grass Ballroom of the SUB.

Tickets may be obtained from all SGA members, and are on sale at the ticket booths in the SUB and the Campus Bookstore for $2.00 per couple. Only a limited number of tickets will be sold at the door.

Girls Granted Late Permission

Dean Sarah B. Holmes has granted 1 a.m. permission for all women's residence halls and sorority houses.

James, nationally known band leader and clarinetist, is one of the busiest performers on WLW and WLW-T in Cincinnati. He has been with the station since 1930, when he completed a tour of Europe as a member of Hal Kemp's band.

Shortly after coming into radio work, he developed his "rhythm against the strings" orchestra, an innovation which eliminated the saxophone section. Many of his shows were on national hookups and featured such stars as the Mills Brothers, Red Skelton, and the late Fats Waller.

James' Daughter To Sing

James' daughter Judy is vocalist with the group.

Charlie Kehrer and his orchestra will alternate with James' group. Kehrer's orchestra is known as "Society's Favorite Orchestra." He has played engagements at Coney Island, Moonlight Gardens, and Castle Farm. He has also played for numerous society and convention dances, such as the Cincinnati Charity Ball.

Kehrer is now doing television appearances on WLW-T.

Democracy Insecure, Richard Poston Tells Home Town Meeting

Menaced from within by social upheavals and from without by conflicting ideology, democracy is no longer secure.

More than 400 civic leaders, representing approximately 100 Kentucky communities heard their problems, Mr. Poston said. He pointed out that U of K has done much through the Bureau of Community Service under Dr. Irwin T. Sanders to break down the "Ivory Tower" attitude present in many of the colleges today.

The speaker, Richard W. Poston, University of Washington community consultant, said that we can meet these tests to democracy only if our communities are strong.

"The communities are the basic units of our society," he said. "If they are strong, America will be strong; if weak, then weakness will be apparent at the national level. If democracy lives in our hearts, minds, and homes, it will live in the big lights."

"But," he declared, "if we are to win the battle for democracy and the Christian way of life, we must

ODK Tag Sales Finance Series Of Campus Projects

Omicron Delta Kappa tags, the fenceline. In cooperation with Phi little diamond-shaped cards sold Mu Alpha, Phi Beta, and Mortar during the week before football board, ODK sponsors the annual All-Campus Sing. ODK will also sponsor one other major project.

Men active in baseball, track, tennis, golf, and swimming are considered for the four scholarships offered by ODK.

Outstanding men in business and the professions are brought to the campus for the job conference. Lectures designed to tell the student some of the factors that are looked for in prospective employees are scheduled.

Tags Bring Revenue

Fraternities and sororities are to turn in proceeds from the Ten-

This year, ODK will again sponsor four scholarships and a job con-

Kyian Photos Begin Monday

Individual Kentuckian pictures of all juniors, seniors, and fraternities will be taken beginning Monday in Room 209 of the Journalism Building. Dave Bere, Kentuckian business manager, said this week.

Juniors and seniors may come to the Kentuckian office, Room 210, Journalism Building, and make appointments for pictures starting Monday. Fraternities and sororities will be sent appointment sheets which are to be returned within five days. Bere stated.

"We need everyone's cooperation to make picture-taking go as smoothly and rapidly as possible this year," Bere added. "Students can help a great deal by making appointments early, and by keeping the appointments."

Yearbooks for previous years, from 1946 to 1951, may be obtained at the Kentuckian office in the afternoon for $5.00 each.

Latest Figures Show Enrollment At 5264

Latest figures on enrollment at UK show 5264 students are enrolled on the campus, with 251 students at the Northern Extension in Covington and 141 at the College of Pharmacy in Louisville.

These figures bring the total of students enrolled for the fall semester in the University to 5656, Dr. R. L. Tuthill, registrar, announced.

Figures on enrollment for evening classes have not been completed yet.

Y Retreat Being Held At Otonka

Group To Leave Saturday At Noon, Returning Sunday

A YM-YWCA retreat is being held this weekend at Camp Otonka on the Kentucky River to plan the fall programs and activities for the Y.

All students interested in attending the outing should sign up at the Y office in the Student Union building today.

The group will leave the Student Union tomorrow afternoon at 12:30 and return Sunday by 3:00 p.m. Transportation and food will be furnished, but each student is requested to bring his own bedding.

The young people will be accompanied by Bart Peak and Miss Barbara Hall, staff members of the Y. The fee for the weekend is $2.50.

Other activities of the Y include a meeting of the Cosmopolitan Club at 7:30 tonight in the Y-lounge of the Student Union building.

The Phalanx, YMCA's Luncheon Fraternity, has resumed its Tuesday noon meetings. All members who haven't received notice should contact Bart Peak.

A YWCA presidential election is scheduled for Tuesday evening at 7:00 o'clock in the Y lounge, and all association members are asked to be present for the voting. A new president will be elected to replace Sally Hancher, this year's president who didn't return to the University. Ruth Ann Maggard, YWCA vice-president, has been acting in the official capacity.

I-D Card Distribution To Begin Wednesday

Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday will be the days for distribution of student identification cards. The cards will be at the Memorial Coliseum ticket windows from 1 to 6 p.m. each of the three days.

ID Cards will be given Wednesday to students with last names beginning with the letters "A" through "P". On Thursday, those with last names beginning with letters "G" through "M" may receive their cards. Students whose last names begin with "N" through "Z" may obtain their cards Friday.

Students will receive the cards upon presentation of the yellow fee receipts which were received at registration. If the slip has been lost, a duplicate may be obtained at the Comptroller's Office in the Administration Building.

According to Dr. Donovan, the University still has two handicaps to overcome before it can start work on the three buildings—a science building, and dormitories for men and women—which make up

Troupers In Quest Of More Talent

By Paul Knapp

The Troupers, UK's equivalent of a three-ring circus and a vaudeville circuit, want more talent.

If you can whistle "Dixie" with your mouth full of crackers, you have talent. But—this isn't the kind of talent the UK Troupers want.

They already have the best in high class entertainment on the campus. That is, all except that which has newly arrived and that belonging to bashful souls who are hiding their candles under a bushel.

Now if you belong to either of these last mentioned gifted groups, here's your chance to go big time.

Audience Appeal Counts

If you have forgotten just what kind of talent you do have, run through this list and size yourself up. They want singers, dancers of all varieties (no chorus girls please), acrobats, gymnasts, magicians, and clowns. If you have another type to offer, judge it on the basis of universal audience appeal. It must be able to please as many people as possible.

Proof that it has to be good to be with the Troupers was the big show given last spring in the Coliseum. Over 5,000 people attended the performance and went away well entertained.

Some of the highlights that will long be remembered from this show are the clever dances by the Mary Jo Bishop and Jimmy Imman team, and Larry Mettler with his educated whip and lasso. And who could forget the clowns headed by Jim Anderson and Lorenz Smith?

Troupers Set For Tuesday

The Troupers were hard hit by FOUR CLOWNS and a master of ceremonies make a little merriment at one of last year's Troupers' shows. The Troupers, made up of UK students, are looking for new talent for their 1951-52 season.

graduation. This is the reason why they are having tryouts from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Laboratory Theater of the Fine Arts Building.

You, the talented one, are to be there to put on your act before the remnants left from graduation. If two-thirds of those present are for you, you're in. If you need an accompanist either bring your own or Troupers will furnish one.

This doesn't pertain to the acrobats and tumblers. They are to see either M. G. Karsner or Miss Joyce Peribix of the respective Physical Education Departments. They will judge your skills.

Officers Are Named

The officers of the organization were elected at a picnic near the end of last year. They are Carl Newby, president; Jim Duffy, vice president; Ann Barker, secretary; and Fred Maggard, treasurer.

At the end of each year, sweaters are awarded to the members who have performed in as many as half the shows and have attended the meetings regularly for that year. Although a member can get only one sweater during his college career, if he qualifies for one for three years, he gets a graduation ring awarded to him also.

These meetings that must be attended are held at the SUB on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month. The entertainment at each meeting is provided by the members themselves. Also there are occasional parties, picnics, and splash parties to keep things from getting in a rut.

Smaller Shows Given

Besides the annual big show, Troupers put on various smaller ones during the year. Any campus or civic organization wishing to secure a few of their acts may call Mr. Karsner.

Last year they played about 15 shows. Some of these were at the Veteran's Hospital, the Crippled Children's Home, and at Greendale.

Troupers were born in what you might call a premature state back in 1930. Dr. C. W. Hackensmith, who is still with the Physical Education Department, started having each year class put on an exhibit.

In 1934 it had started to take on an appearance much as we see it today, and was made into a separate organization.

After the war Bernard Johnson returned to take over as the Troupers' sponsor and advisor. And he remained at this position until the present semester. Mr. Karsner will replace him while he is away working on his doctor's degree.

Under the leadership of these and many other men, Troupers has grown to be one of the most active entertainment groups of its kind on any campus.

Donovan To Present Assembly With Hold-The-Line Budget For Next Two Year Period

200 Members Of Faculty May Have To Be Dropped If Requests Not Granted

A realistic hold-the-line UK budget proposal of $5,401,536 for each of the next two years was outlined to representatives of the press and radio, and through them to the citizens of Kentucky, by President H. L. Donovan at a dinner meeting in the SUB last night. The budget request will be presented to the upcoming session of the state legislature.

The budget announcement highlighted the message which President Donovan has carried to all parts of the Commonwealth during the last ten years—"Kentucky Cannot be a Greater State without a Great State University."

"The people of Kentucky do not want their University to lose ground. If the University is to hold its own during the next two years, it must receive approximately the sums of money it is requesting the governor and the General Assembly to appropriate for its support." That was the keynote of the president's message.

The budget request for each of the next two years calls for an increase of $1,951,536. The anticipated annual loss of $1,000,000 in fees for veterans attending the University, combined with the inflation of the dollar, were pointed out forcefully in showing the absolute necessity for the increased budget if the University is to hold its own.

For Farmers Demands

$50,000 . . . to meet the demands of the farmers for additional research and to cover the increased cost of such research.

President Donovan emphasized the urgency of the University's budget needs in no uncertain terms.

"This is not a cry of 'wolf,' wolf to frighten anyone," he declared. "It is a sober statement of fact of which the people of Kentucky should be made aware before . . . disaster happens to their University."

Threatened With Personnel Loss

In the threatened loss of valuable personnel he added:

"During the past decade the University has been able to select carefully a large number of promising younger faculty and staff members whose training is the best that can be obtained in the universities of the world. These are men and women who will continue to give the University distinction ten or twenty years from now. The loss of these professors and research specialists would be tragic to the University, but it would be even more tragic to the state of Kentucky."

UK Candidate For Queen Finds California Exciting

By Emily Campbell

Pat Moore, UK's representative to the Berkeley Football Queen Festival, spent seven days touring California, dining, dancing, going to parties, and football games.

Pat flew from Lexington to Chicago on Sunday. Five of the candidates for queen met in Chicago, and went on to Phoenix where they met two more of the girls. In Los Angeles all the girls gathered to spend the first night. The Junior Chamber of Commerce met the girls and their orchestra playing. This night the 10 girls toured Los Angeles and were chaperoned by the Jaycees to three big night clubs.

The next morning a chartered plane took the girls to Oakland. In Oakland they rode in convertibles in a parade from Oakland to Berkeley. A press reception was held for the girls in Berkeley. Head quarters for the candidates was Hotel Claremont in Berkeley.

Tuesday night a dinner party in honor of the girls was given at Trader Vic's, a Chinese resort. Each of the girls were given leis made of over 100 orchids which had been flown in from Hawaii.

Pat Takes Plane Tour

Pat was especially impressed with the three-hour plane tour which Pan American sponsored for them on Wednesday. Leaving from San Francisco, they saw Lake Tahoe in Nevada, Yosemite National Park, San Francisco, and other places of interest in California. Another tour on Wednesday was of San Francisco.

Following the parade the girls went to a pep rally sponsored by the University of California as they prepared for their big game on Saturday. To bring the busy and exciting day to a close, on Saturday the girls toured the University of California campus. They were entertained by the Elks Club for a luncheon.

Only Profit—School Spirit

Students should not consider tonight's SGA Dance as "just another money-making project," because that is not its purpose. In fact, it is doubtful that the admission price will do any more than cover the cost of the two bands being hired for the event.

The real reason for the dance is to promote a feeling of school spirit and co-operation. For too long UK students have felt little or no "sense of belonging" in regard to the University as a whole. To most of them, it does not exist as a unit in itself, but only as a central clearing house for other smaller groups for which they feel a real allegiance.

This is not to say that these smaller groups—the honoraries, professional clubs, fraternities, sororities, and the like—are unimportant. We do think, however, that the students and the University both suffer when there is a lack of this feeling of solidarity.

This initial dance, according to SGA, is an experiment. If it proves a success, the organization plans other dances featuring "big-name" bands—the next to follow the Tennessee game.

We see no need for the SGA Dance to fail. The bands are good—and where else can you find two for one dance—the price is reasonable, the night is relatively free of other activities, and late permission has been granted the girls living in dorms and sorority houses.

The only obstacle we can foresee is the pseudo-sophistication that is sometimes assumed by those who feel that anything involving all students is beneath their dignity. We hope that this attitude, which is actually more childish than sophisticated, will not appear again this year.

It is time that the University really became a university.

Concerning The UK Budget

By Pres. H. L. Donovan

The growth and development of the University has been slow. A study of Dr. James F. Hopkins' history, The University of Kentucky: Origins and Early Years, will impress any reader with the trials and disappointments, the handicaps and tragic delays which the leaders and friends of the University have encountered. It can be said that Kentuckians were in no vulgar haste to build a great university. However, the contributions of men and materials, of scholarship and research, of love and devotion over a period of 86 years have accumulated until the University of Kentucky is at last at the threshold of greatness. The University's roots have sunk deep into Kentucky's soil. Our people know what it has done for them and they appreciate its services. The citizens of our State believe in the University and they regard it as one of their greatest assets. We are confident that they are willing to support it so that it may continue to render greater and greater service to our people.

The progress of the University has been accelerated during the past decade. This progress has been largely the result of better support from the State and large sums of money the University has received from the Federal Government for Army contracts during World War II and as tuition from the Veterans Administration for the education of G.I.'s. These Federal funds have served as a "shot in the arm" in lifting the University to a new status and a new level of achievement.

There is ample evidence all about us to convince anyone who looks at the University that it is on the verge of greatness. Its student body has doubled, the value of its plant is more than twice what it was a decade ago, its faculty has increased in size and, what is more significant, in quality. Its research contributions have multiplied. The publications of the faculty are far greater than ever before. The University's reputation among scholars has attained a new standing. The Federal Government has called upon the University for the expert service of its faculty both at home and abroad. All of these and many other signs are evidence of the University's new attainments as an institution of higher education.

Many of these later achievements would not have been possible without the Federal funds that have come to the University during the past decade. Now, Army contracts have been completed. G.I.'s have nearly exhausted their entitlements and veterans' tuition has about dried up. The loss of these monies will seriously curtail the University's program unless the State makes up the loss of Federal funds. This is what we are requesting the State to do. It is what many other states have done at the meetings of their legislatures this past year. We confidently believe that Kentucky will not let its University slip from its present rank of eminence among the universities of this country.

Our University is at the threshold of greatness. Don't we want to hold our ground? In both football and basketball, the University ranks at, or near, the top. We are certain most of our citizens of Kentucky would regard it as a disaster if we should fall from this position of eminence in athletics. However, it would be far more disastrous to Kentucky for us to permit our pre-eminence in the fields of scholarship, teaching, and research to fall to a lower level.

We believe the next General Assembly will provide funds to make up for what the University will lose from Federal sources, in order to avoid the disaster we have pointed out. The University of Kentucky cannot afford to retreat from greatness. The State of Kentucky cannot afford to let this happen."

DeanFunkhouser's Book Published Posthumously

The publication of a posthumous book by the late Dean W. D. Funkhouser has been announced by the Department of Zoology. Dean Funkhouser was head of the department. The book has been edited by its members and published in Belgium.

The book is intended to be a summation of the life work of the author, which was a study of a family of insects, the Membracidae. Among several hundred books and papers which he authored, he considered this book to be his most important contribution to the world of entomology. Until his death in 1948, he was the world authority on this insect family.

The volume, a large quarto book of 383 pages, is illustrated by more than 260 figures, which are the work of the noted scientific illustrator, Mrs. Aline Rudolph Hansen of Rutgers, N.J. It is based upon studies made from all the great museums of the world and from his personal collection.

The history of the book has been eventful. It was completed and submitted to the publisher in 1938, just in time for the German invasion of Belgium. Its fate at the hands of the Nazis at the fall of Brussels was never known by the author up to the time of his death. Some six months after his death, the Department received a notice addressed to the Dean revealing that the manuscript had been safely in a bank

Records Microfilmed By UK Librarians

Dr. Jacqueline Bull, archivist at the Margaret I. King Library, Miss Polly Warren, head of photographic work; and Miss Mary Hester Cooper, from the Bureau of Source Materials in Higher Education, returned Saturday from a week's stay in Montreal, N. C., where they made microfilm copies of the records of the Presbyterian Church as they pertain to the state of Kentucky.

These films constitute the beginning of a project which will be expanded into collecting similar material on all denominations. Work was begun with the Presbyterian records because of related material on hand in the Samuel M. Wilson library.

The records which were filmed go back to 1790 and parallel the history of the state.

Typography Expert Speaks At Library

Dr. P. J. Conkwright, chief typographer for the Princeton University Press and graduate of UK, class of 1928, will give an informal talk in the reading room of the special collection department on the fourth floor of the Margaret I. King Library at 8:00 p.m. Monday. He will talk informally on the making of books and problems of the university press.

Books designed by Conkwright have frequently been chosen to be among the fifty best books awarded annually by the American Institute of Graphic Arts. In one year three of his books were chosen, more than any other designer. Conkwright is currently working on the job of publishing the papers of Thomas Jefferson, which are being issued by the New York Times and the Princeton University Press.

After graduating from the University Mr. Conkwright was employed by the University of Oklahoma Press and later became chief designer and typographer.

Mr. Conkwright's wife is the former Miss Hazel Boone of Lexington, who is also a graduate of the University.

Fulbright Applications Are Due By Oct. 15

All seniors eligible for Fulbright Scholarships must have their applications in by October 15. Dr. A. E. Bigge, Fulbright adviser, warned this week. Failure to have them in by 5 p.m. of that date will eliminate applicants from consideration.

Dr. Bigge urged that all applications be turned in early in order that a more thorough evaluation of the applicants may be given.

Applications may be turned in at the office of Dr. Bigge, 303 Miller Hall.

Grain Company Holds Student Competition

The Uhlmann Awards Student Contest will be continued again this year, it was announced by Richard F. Uhlmann, president of the Uhlmann Grain Co., and Carl C. Bostrom, president of the Chicago Board of Trade.

The purpose of the contest, which is in its third year, is to stimulate interest among university students in the marketing problems of grain trade. The subject for this year's contest is "An Analysis of Some Aspects of Grain Marketing Activity."

The contest is open to all graduate and under-graduate students of all recognized schools and colleges in the United States and Canada. Lecturers and Instructors working for advance degrees are also eligible.

Awards will be made in each class of competition. There will be 1st, 2nd, and 3rd prizes of $300, $150 and $75, as well as four honorable mentions of $25 for each of the two groups, graduate and undergraduate. No entry fee is required.

Manuscripts should be submitted to the Educational Advisory Committee, Room 666 Chicago Board of Trade by May 1, 1952. Contest rules may be secured by writing the Awards Committee, or the Public Relations Department of the Chicago Board of Trade.

Robbery Attempted At Sorority House

An attempted break-in at the Zeta Tau Alpha house early Sunday morning was thwarted by awakened members of the sorority. The Lexington police dismissed the incident as a college prank, but the campus police and the girls were more concerned.

The prowler broke a dining room window. Because of wet ground underneath it, the campus officials were able to get legible plaster casts of the man's footprints. The attempt occurred at 2:30 a.m. Evidently the prowler thought the girls would be asleep. However, the falling glass awakened a few of the lighter sleepers and their outcries frightened the man away.

And Freshmen Have It Worse

Transfers Take On Greenish-Blue Color For Their First Few Days At University

By Kathy Fryer

Have you ever been a transfer student? You're not as green as the average freshman, but in your rather greenish-blue state you see the University in a different light.

Sure, you know what a competitor's office is and how to laugh at a professor's joke, but even so you get some unusual impressions during your first couple of weeks at UK.

If you live in the Bluegrass you've probably seen the Coliseum before, and on the morning of registration it bears no resemblance to a basketball gym.

You know just what a white mouse in a psychologist's trap feels like as you thread your way through the obstacle course on the ramp; and the mass of schedule tables on the floor below looks exactly like a political convention with PHYSICS, HUMANITIES, and ANATOMY on the posters instead of VIRGINIA, KENTUCKY, and ALABAMA. You expect any minute to see a white-haired gentleman stand up and start a stampede by yelling, "All you-all Dixiecrats raise up an' fol-lah me!"

Tests Aren't Bad

The physical and preregistration tests aren't too frightening if you are a transfer student. You've been through most of that before. Yet if you went to a small college, nothing scares you more than those enormous lecture rooms with seats on stairs reaching all the way up to the ceiling. If you got to one of these giants in Kastle or McVey a little late, you had the vague feeling that you were in the back row of a theater balcony. A pair of binoculars would come in handy, you thought. The boy on your right looks over, grins, and murmurs, "Oh, this altitude is killing me!" Yep, you're at UK all right!

As you begin to find your way around without the help of student guides, you find out that the favorite howling place of the new wolves is the circular stone seat in front of Barker Hall, that the SUB isn't a campus hotel lobby, and that there is a way of getting out of the FA building if you follow a map. Barefoot Football You find that the cool, ivy-covered building with windows you can't see into is the Law Building, and that the well-dressed men playing football in their bare feet outside are lawyers.

You find out the hard way that girls just don't play ping-pong in the SUB game room according to some unwritten law, and that sorority girls aren't as snooty as you had been told.

You remember the fevered warnings the hometown veterans of UK had given you all year. ("Don't get Prof. Kumkum in taxidermy, whatever you do. He just keeps you in stitches.") Keep out of psychology, if you can. Nothing but nuts in that department." "Try not to get any Saturday classes." "Join all the clubs the first semester." "Don't join anything."

It doesn't do any good now, though. The schedule you rewrote seven times and handed reverently to your dean is now on file. You are still waiting to find out what teachers you will have to study the hardest for, and which ones know what they are talking about.

What Is The Thing? Even though you've been on the campus a little over a week, you still don't know what the low, flat, smoking thing opposite White Hall is, what florist is building a greenhouse on the campus, the names and pins of all the different sororities and fraternities, and how to find your way to Memorial Hall.

It isn't so bad, though. You get used to seeing 100 strange faces for every familiar one and taking a hike from one class to another.

Even though your friends in the college you came from wailed, "Oh, you'll be lost in that big place, Kathy," when you told them you were transferring to UK, you plucked in eddy.

Day Set For Photo Retakes

University students desiring to have pictures taken for their I-D cards are requested to report to the Coliseum on Saturday, September 28 between the hours of 9-11 in the morning. Students who need retakes are also requested to report. Students without I-D cards will not be permitted to games and other athletic events at the University.

Reservists Deferred Regardless Of Grades

Members of the active reserve will definitely be deferred from the draft for their periods of enlistment, regardless of grades. First Lieutenant William R. Lyman, company commander of Headquarters Company, First Battalion, 397th Airborne Infantry Regiment, said this week.

"Chances of being called to active duty are highly improbable," Lieutenant Lyman added. "The only time we will be called to duty is in case of all-out war."

Men who join the unit will draw longevity for all the time they are in the active reserve. They will also draw one day's pay for each two-hour meeting, Lieutenant Lyman said. There are two meetings of the Lexington unit each month, on the second and fourth Mondays of the month.

Veterans may join the active reserve unit with the rank they held when discharged. High school graduates and those with no prior service may join with consideration given to schooling, ROTC experience, and other factors, the lieutenant explained.

"There are plenty of unit vacancies for promotion," he said.

Students now taking ROTC can also join the active reserve unit, according to Lieutenant Lyman.

Joining a company of an airborne infantry regiment does not mean one must become a parachutist, he said. If a member of the unit wishes, he may take parachute training, but it is not required.

Members of the unit will be issued full uniforms and field equipment, and will receive the training of a Regular Army soldier.

Lieutenant Lyman said more information could be obtained by calling him at 2-6099, by calling Sgt. Cotton at the Reserve Armory on Spring Street, or by notifying the ROTC unit instructor's office.

UK Candidate

(Continued from Page 1) son and then went on to the football game. In the game between the University of California and Santa Clara, the University of California won 34-0. Pat was given a portable radio to use at the game to listen to the Kentucky-Texas game.

"The Elks club gave a farewell dinner for the girls following the game. From this dinner they went on to a private party given by the Jaycees. Each girl was presented with an Elgin watch as a gift from the Jaycees.

Back to Lexington

On Sunday morning Pat left by plane to come back to Lexington.

Donovan Says

(Continued from Page 1) funds set aside for loans to schools with ROTC programs. It is not clear, the UP story said, whether or not the federal government had agreed to lend the University the money.

The science building, which will house the Chemistry and Physics Departments, will be built on the site of the Rose Street Tennis Courts. The women's dormitory is to be built on Harrison Avenue near the present women's dorms and the men's dorm on the University farm near the Aeronautics Laboratory. The women's structure will house 216 students and the men's 365. Both will have kitchen and dining facilities.

Frosh: Let's get a piece of string and find out.

Father: Son, why must you go out with that girl?

Son: Because I want to.

Father: (Suspiciously) Want to what?

Bellhop (making lady and gentleman comfortable): "Anything else, Mr. Smith?"

Guest: "No, thank you."

Bellhop: "Anything for your wife?"

Guest (absentmindedly): "Why yes, bring me a postcard."

Then there was the agricultural college student who was voted the most likely to sack seed.

New UK Greenhouse Under Construction

Flowers for official University educational and social events will be raised in new greenhouse, now under construction on the east side of White Hall.

According to Norris R. Elliott, professor of landscape architecture and floriculture, flowers have seldom been used in the past at many of these functions because the various sponsors had no budget to purchase them.

The bouquets grown in the new greenhouse will be provided on request at no cost, and are not intended for individual wear, Prof. Elliott said.

Completion of the building, which is 28 by 85 feet in size, is expected by Jan. 1.

The new greenhouse is not planned as a laboratory for horticulture students, Prof. Elliott stated.

Phi Alpha Delta Will Celebrate Its 37th Year On UK Campus

Henry Clay Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta, national law fraternity, marks its 37th year on the UK campus this year.

Phi Alpha Delta, founded at the University of Chicago in 1898, originally was formed to resist legislation which seriously affected all law students in Illinois then preparing for the bar examination. The group succeeded in securing legislation which exempted the students then studying for the bar examination.

From this beginning Phi Alpha Delta has grown to be one of the leading law fraternities with 74 active chapters in American law schools and 26 alumni chapters in the nation's larger cities with a total membership of approximately 20,000.

The fraternity is divided geographically into 12 districts which comprise all of the states of the Union. Clay Chapter is located in District Nine, which is made up of Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Western Pennsylvania, and West Virginia. In addition to district conventions the fraternity holds bi-annual national conventions for the purpose of carrying on the business of the fraternity. Clay Chapter and Vinson Chapter of the University of Louisville were hosts to the last national convention held at French Lick, Ind., in 1950.

Clay Chapter received its chapter on May 14, 1914, being the first law fraternity to come to UK's campus. Phi Alpha Delta was the first organization to sponsor the annual Legal Forum at UK, which has since become a regular part of the students' extracurricular work. The forum consists of a series of lectures by outstanding men in various fields of law from all parts of the country.

Another part of the Phi Alpha Delta program is a monthly luncheon which features talks by prominent leaders in the field of law from Kentucky. At these luncheons members of the freshman class are the guests of the chapter.

Students entering the College of Law this term were furnished copies of a brochure prepared by the chapter entitled "Hints of Briefing Cases" which was designed to help the new student acquaint himself with the proper approach to a law problem. The chapter is at present planning a book scholarship to be offered to second year students.

Phi Alpha Delta members on the faculty include William L. Mattheus, Professor Roy Moreland, and Associate Professor Wilbur D. Hines, who is also vice president of the year yesterday to outline the year's activities. The officers Nam Outstanding PAD's on the faculty will direct Phi Alpha Delta for the present year are Eugene E. Truman and Vice President Abbie Hines, Justice; James M. Todd, W. Barkley.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 23

This classy campus caper-cutter got his snootful of cute cigarette tests. It didn't take him long to dig out the fact that cigarette mildness can't be determined by a mere single puff or quick-snuff experiment! Millions of smokers, on and off the campus, have discovered there's only one true test of cigarette mildness.

IT'S THE SENSIBLE TEST... the 30-day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke — on a day-after-day basis. No snap judgments. Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

Chasing Thieves Or Hiring Coaches, Its All A Part Of Shively's Job

By Earl Cox

Bernie Shively, whose job as Athletic Director of the University of Kentucky requires him to supervise one of the nation's top athletic departments, leaned back in his comfortable chair and smiled pleasantly when he was asked what was his hardest job.

His thoughts probably flashed back over his colorful and varied career. An All-American guard in football at Illinois, he has been listed on many all-time All-America teams. Coming to Kentucky the day after graduating from college, he has been line coach, track coach, baseball coach, head football coach, and athletic director in his 24 years here.

Likes New Situations

Getting back to the question he was asked, Shively answered, "Everything is easy about this job." He went on to explain that if a person likes his job, it has no work to do. Shively likes his job even though he has more duties than he can count. Every new situation that comes up concerning the athletic department presents a new problem for him to solve.

Briefly, here are some of the things the athletic director does:

- 1) He has charge of the entire athletic department and everything connected with it.
- 2) He has charge of the physical plant, Stoll Field and Memorial Coliseum.
- 3) He arranges transportation, hotel accommodations, meals, work-outs, etc., for UK teams on trips.

He makes most of the trips with first SEC football championship teams. While in New York with Stoll Field obscured, Memorial Coliseum the cagers last winter, he was the intended victim of a man who tried to swindle him out of some tickets.

He chased the man for several blocks through the crowded streets of New York, pounced on him, and held him until police arrived. That was just an extra curricular activity," Shively said.

Handles All Ticket Sales

- 4) He is in charge of all ticket sales. This job sometimes calls for diplomacy. There are always people wanting tickets to games at the last minute. They usually end up in Shively's office. If tickets are available, he will go out of his way to get them. If they aren't available, he has to soothe the fan's feelings. More than $20,000 already has been sent back to people requesting refunds for the Tennessee game which has been a sell-out for quite some time.
- 5) He orders all athletic equipment and sees that all bills are paid.
- 6) Working with the coaches, he arranges schedules, sometimes three or four years in advance. For instance, four games already are scheduled for the 1954 gridiron.

Shively selects coaches for the nine varsity sports which UK supports. At the present time, only tennis is without a coach, and Shively said, "I am working on that now."

Shively was named to his present position in 1939, succeeding S. A. "Daddy" Boles. Since then he has seen Kentucky go big time in football, win the Sugar Bowl and its 1940 Cotton Bowl.

The University of Kentucky Kittens, composed of freshmen and reserve players, meet the Georgia Tech second timers at 8 o'clock tomorrow night on Stoll Field.

The Kittens, still smarting from a 6-0 defeat at the hands of Fort Knox last week, will be out to pick up their first win. Practice this week has included several scrimmage sessions to determine a starting lineup.

Assistant Coach Charlie McClenon handles the Kittens in their engagements. He was not particularly impressed with their showing last week.

Athletic director Bernie Shively said he expects a turnout of about 5,000 for the game.

Bob Hallum, 160-pounder from Lebanon, Tenn., who has looked good since fall practice began Sept. 1, is expected to hold down a defensive backfield job. Hallum appeared in the Tennessee Tech game but did not travel with the varsity to Texas.

Dick Rushine, an all-state high school back in Arkansas, has been impressive in workouts and looked good in the Fort Knox game. He will be seen in the offensive backfield.

A closely contested game is expected. With the SEC rules allowing freshmen to compete on the varsity level, first year men play with the determination of promotion.

Student tickets cost 50 cents and may be obtained only at the Coliseum. Non-student tickets are priced at $1.

Gates to be used for the game are those on Euclid Ave.

THE KENTUCKY KERNEL

Gruner Leads SEC Scoring With 18 Points

Bunk Gruner, Wildcat halfback, holds the position of top man on the totem pole in scoring in the Southeastern Conference with 18 points. Bunk, a Louisville product of duPont Manual, was hailed as one of the most promising halfbacks ever to come out of Kentucky high schools. He was named to the all-state squad as captain in 1948 and '49, voted most valuable player in '48 and '49 and polled on the All-Southern team in those same years. As a sophomore, Gruner is fast coming into contention for a starting assignment, and possibly may become one of the outstanding halfbacks in the Southeastern Conference.

Harry Jones Second

Bunk is followed in the scoring department by a teammate, also from Louisville Manual, Harry Jones. Jones, a junior, has scored 16 of Kentucky's 78 points this season to keep Kentucky's name on top in the scoring parade.

Seven players find themselves in the third slot with 12 points. They are Bobby Marlow, Bobby Chiodetti, Bobby Luna, and Corky Thorpe, all of Alabama; Wilson Dillar of Mississippi; Floyd Huggins of Florida, and Wallace Beech of Mississippi State. And in fourth place is Red Lutz of Alabama who has kicked 10 extra points.

Student Directories To Be Out By Nov. 1

Student directories should be printed and distributed by Nov. 1, the Student Government Association announced this week.

Williams Is Named Lineman Of Week

Paul Williams, left end of the Texas Longhorns, was named "Lineman of the Week" for his sterling play in last Saturday's game with the Wildcats. Williams was the player most responsible for Kentucky's defeat, because by rushing Parilli, he bottled up the bulk of the Cat's offense.

Williams is 22, married and a senior on the squad. He was named to several All-Southwestern Conference teams in 1950.

Gain Boots Well In Pro Ball

All-American Bob Gain, line stalwart of the past three years for Coach Bryant, is again making a name for himself with the Ottawa professional team. Gain, in converting 38 extra point in 1950, set a all time record for scoring by a lineman. So far this season, Bob has scored 16 points which puts him fifth in the league in total points.

came when Center Bob Farris recovered a kickoff fumble on the Blue Raiders' 35. Fullback R. C. Allen pounded 20 yards to set up the third score, sewing up the game

Florida's national collegiate high jump champion, "Papa" Hall ran wild on the gridiron to lead the Gators to a 27-7 victory over the Citadel. Hall sped from nine yards inside the end zone till the finish. Texas scored on a 13 yard pass play and Gil Dawson converted for the important point. A Parilli short pass to Bunk Gruner gave UK their score, but muffing the extra point helped Texas retain the streak of never losing a home opener.

Ranking as the top SEC game of the week will be Tennessee vs. Mississippi State. Tennessee, AP pick as No. 1 team, is unleashing its 1951 football schedule against the team who gave them their sole defeat last year. General Bob Neyland has a powerful squad but Mississippi State is capable of repeating its old tricks.

Gators vs. Bulldogs

Attractive games to the schedule for the second best clash, making it a hard choice. Twice winner Florida against Georgia Tech Saturday at Gainesville may be a wicked battle. The Georgia-North Carolina game also ranks high, seeing as Georgia and Mississippi State are the dark horse possibilities this year.

Alabama may prove a good show when they meet LSU in Mobile. Miami vs. Tulane should be good. Then again Kentucky pitted against Mississippi in Oxford may make a big splash. Even the Auburn-Vandy game may be exciting as both are rated the SEC's weakest teams.

WHAS-TV Features Bryant With Game Films, Analysis On Sunday Afternoon Show

By Stan Portmann

EVERY SUNDAY AFTERNOON a 4 o'clock Louisville's WHAS-TV passes out tickets on the fifty-line, via the medium of TV, to the UK Wildcat game of that Saturday. Once again Kentucky's outstanding television personality, Head Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant is on hand to diagram plays, explain touchdowns, provide a running commentary of the game films, and to point out factors that make a superior football team out of a squad.

The one hour show, m.c'd by Phil Sutterfield, who wisely stays in the background, is the most informative for those who know football and those who wish to know. Coach Bryant with the aid of blackboard and chalk, as well as the game films, explains with diagrams the scoring plays and how they were scoring plays.

KENTUCKY 6, TEXAS 7: In commenting on the game Bryant is absolutely frank and highly objective sparing neither himself nor the squad for mistakes made. Coach Bryant pointed out the series of plays in which Kentucky had rushed and passed the ball to the Texas 14, third down and four to go. Kentucky used the spread formation with a pitchout and made two yards. On the last down the same play was called losing two yards and the ball went over to the Texans. Bryant commented, "Both the team and I felt we had the game won," added Bryant. While not alibing, he said the game was lost due to the fact that the coach lacked that hard to explain, intangible something it takes to score when the opportunities are there.

The head coach is prone to be hard on himself by taking the blame for some occurrence on the field. "It made no difference that the ball was not placed on the kicking tee for that important extra point as it would have been blocked anyway by a Texan coming right down the middle, and that's poor coaching," Bryant commented.

While seemingly shouldering more of his share of the blame for the unexplainable events on the field, the coach is more than willing to give credit where credit is due. Mentioned as standouts by Coach Bryant were: Tom Fillion, who averaged almost nine yards per try (78 yards on nine rushes); Emory Clark, who found his holes nicely and did well at safety; Harry Jones played a good offensive game and a bang-up defensive one (Bryant said he had to use Harry more than he should have to plug up the defense); Bunk Gruner, who wisely violated the pass pattern when covered, caught the pass for the only Kentucky TD.; and the "Kentucky Babe" completed 18 passes for 176 yards and six points. Parilli also had a 34.0 punting average including a 56-yard boot from scrimmage.

Line standouts were Co-captain Doug Mosley, center and line backer, Frank Fuller and Calvin Smith, tackles.

While not quite like being at the game, Bryant's TV show is the next best thing. Sundays at 4 p.m.!

CHALK UP PARILLI is not too accurate long passes to the fact that the Texas defensive right end, Paul Williams (No. 80) was on the Babe's neck like a string of pearls all afternoon. Williams appeared to be a fifth Kentucky back . . . his tackle caused Parilli to fumble an attempted pass which set up the Texas score . . . no one seemed capable of blocking the big man.

DID YOU KNOW that the pass from center which was fumbled in the Texas game was the first for Kentucky since 1947. Chug Rogers, former Wildcat center, was a guest on the bench and almost had apoplexy.

Tom Fillion Is Named 'Player Of The Week'

By Don Armstrong

This week marks the first time in two years that the Kernel sports staff has undertaken to choose a "player of the week".

So, with our fingers crossed and our ears to the ground, we cast our lot in favor of Tom Fillion, the Owensboro fullback. Following are some of the reasons why...

Though there were performances by Cat footballers which cannot escape notice (such as Parilli's stadium passing record down there at Austin), we picked Fillion because he provided needed offensive ground punch. Some experts had predicted Kentucky would have to rely on air power to beat Texas.

Blocking Failed

But when the chips were down, Kentucky failed to support its passing attack with the necessary blocking in the line. Longhorn ends played "Waltz Me Around Again, Willie" with Parilli's neck all afternoon. The Babe just didn't have time to heave those long ones down field to open up the Texas defense.

Parilli himself showed he was depending on a ground attack to split the vaunted Texas forward wall and pull in the Lone Star defense so Kentucky could pass. He had earlier tried the aerial game, but it didn't pay off when needed the most.

Then, in the third quarter, in came Mr. Fillion with his blasting line backs, and the Cat ground game began to click. Reeling off gains of seven, four, and 30 yards, Fillion played the major role in moving UK from its own 19 to the Texas 40 yard line.

Gruner Scores

With Texas shifting in to stop Fillion, Harry Jones scampered to the Longhorn six, interrupted by a Fillion buck and a four-yard gain by Bunk Gruner. From there, Parilli had Texas guessing and while they were watching for another run the Babe slipped to Gruner in the end zone.

After scores are counted and statistics surveyed, the man who plays the grueling afternoon on defense will tell you it's the battering type of runner who worries him the most. And that's what master Fillion did—he battered for all he was worth.

Fillion did the most important running job in Kentucky's turf drive for the score. He helped the Blue to control the ball as the Cats ran 80 plays from scrimmage, compared with 50 for Texas. Though the touted Texas offense boasted all-American Fullback Byron Townsend, Kentucky nearly matched their ground yardage for the contest.

He's Due

Tommy's playing record is, by now, what could be called "long due". As late as Owensboro, Ky., Red Devil, he led the Davy Crockett eleven to a Western Kentucky Conference championship while gathering in all-State and all-Southern grid honors. His Owensboro backers were convinced he would reach the stature of such Devil stars as Lee Truman here at UK.

Fillion graduated from Owensboro Senior High in January, 1949 and came to the University that spring to tour the state with the rest of Kentucky's barn-storming Wildcats, who were playing an intra-squad series. That fail, he played freshman ball for the Wildkittens.

Bryant decided to hold Fillion back last year and save some of his eligibility, the coach being in the enviable position of not needing any more fullbacks. He already had Leskovar, Cliff Lawson, and John Brainard.

Last spring must have punctuated Bryant's estimation of Fillion as a player. When the Blue's squared off against the Whites, Fillion was assigned to the underdog White team, which Parilli captained. The Whites took the contest, 20-6. Operating from the double wing much of the time, Fillion picked up yard on yard, mostly on direct passes from center and delayed line plunges.

Watch next week's Kernel for the second selection of "player of the week."

Cats Lose First Game To Texas Longhorns, 7-6

Texas Outgained, But Kentucky Fails On Scoring Drives

The University of Kentucky lost its first major test of the 1951 football season to the University of Texas last Saturday by the slim margin of 7-6.

A second quarter touchdown pass and a good conversion was enough to beat the Wildcats although statistically Coach Bear Bryant's boys had the upper hand throughout. The Wildcats rolled up 21 first downs while holding the Texans to eight but were able to push across only one six-pointer.

A fumble set up the Texas score.

Paul Williams, Longhorn end, crashed through the Kentucky line and knocked the ball from the poised arm of All-American quarterback Babe Parilli. A Texas recovery on the Kentucky 28 set the stage for an 11-yard run by half-back Don Barton. T. Jones, Texas quarterback, then tossed a pass to that same Barton who grabbed it on the four yard line and stepped across for the tally.

Dawson Kicks Winning Point

Gib Dawson then booted the ball through the uprights to give the Texans the point which decided the game.

The victory preserved the Longhorn's record of never having lost an opening game on the home field but it was a heartbreaking loss for the Wildcats. Parilli engineered drive after drive into Texas territory but the Cats were able to count only once on a Parilli to Bunk Gruner pass in the third quarter.

A sustained drive, which began on the Kentucky 19, featured the running of Tom Fillion, reserve fullback who looked good on every carry he made, and Harry Jones, seatback who befuddled the big Texas line time and again. Three carries by Fillion moved the ball from the 19 to the Texas 40. Harry Jones ripped to the 27. Fillion picked up one yard. Bunk Gruner plowed to the 22. Harry Jones evaded Longhorn tacklers and moved to the six. Parilli went back to pass, was trapped momentarily, then tossed to Gruner in the end zone.

Kentucky Conversion Fails

On the conversion attempt which followed, Herb Hunt lost control of the pass from center and Harry Jones did not get a chance to boot.

Five big Texans were in to smother the ball before Hunt could place it.

The victory was definitely a feather in the cap of the Texans but it did not detract from the all-around play of the Bryantmen. A line recruited from reserves of the Southeastern Conference champions of last season, sophomores, and freshmen held the powerful Texas running game in check.

The strongest Kentucky running offense seen in years moved with regularity against the strong Texas forward wall. And Babe Parilli set a new mark for the Texas stadium with his passes. The old mark was set by Baylor's Larry Isbell last year.

Three intercepted passes and three lost fumbles at vital moments prevented what might have been Kentucky scoring drives. On the other side of the ledger, the Wildcats recovered two Texas fumbles and intercepted two passes.

Williams Outstanding On Defense

The Texas defensive line, led by Williams, crashed through the Kentucky line to hamper Parilli's passing, especially on long passes. Williams was by far the outstanding defensive player on the field. He brought down the neck of the Kentucky quarterback all afternoon, causing Parilli to rush his throws on several occasions. As a result, the accuracy of the Babe's long passes was below normal standards.

Kentucky threatened first in the game when they moved from their own 30 to the Texas 21. Two Parilli passes to Proffitt and one to Melinger moved the ball to the Texas 36. Emory Clark ran to the 21. Parilli then tossed to Melinger on the 15. Proffitt was clear in the end zone, but he juggled and lost a pass. The Wildcat machine then bogged down and Texas took over.

Byron Townsend, Gib Dawson, and Don Barton gave the Wildcats worried moments with hard and elusive running. Two inexperienced quarterbacks, Jones and Pace, operated the newly installed split-T formation with confidence.

First Win For Texas Coach

The victory was especially sweet for Texas coach Ed Price who is beginning his first season as head coach at the Austin school.

Fillion and Harry Jones were the outstanding runners of the Big Blue's ground game. Emory Clark shook himself loose on several occasions for gains.

Bill Leskovar was running hard, especially on his favorite pitch out plays.

A break down of statistics shows that the Wildcats collected 176 yards by passing as compared to 52 for the Longhorns. The Texans, however, outgained the Cats at 169 to 145.

Parilli Completes 19 of 34

Parilli threw 34 passes and completed 19 for a .559 completion average. The Texas backs attempted 11 passes and completed three.

Texas kicked eight times for an average of 39.5 yards while Parilli punted four times for a 34.0 average. Texas was penalized 7 yards and the Kentuckians lost only 10 yards by penalties.

Fort Knox Tankers Defeat 'Kittens' 6-0

By Marvin Poer

The welcome mat was spread for Coach Charlie McLendon and 33 of his 'B' team players this past Saturday night at Fort Knox, Kentucky. The Fort Knox "Tankers" acted out the role of perfect hosts by outscoring the Kentucky "Kittens" 6-0 in their first contest of the 1951 season.

On a sloppy, ill-conditioned field, the freshmen footballers fumbled their way to a dull 6-0 defeat at the hands of the Soldiers. Twice within the 20 yard line, the Kittens had scoring opportunities slip through their fingers due to costly fumbles that bogged down their offense. Due to the inexperience and nervousness of the young squad, the scoring punch just wasn't there when needed.

Line Buck Sees

Fort Knox scored the only touch-down of the game from four yards out. A 45 yard touchdown run was nullified by a Kentucky penalty. This factor alone was enough to upset the boys and the jitters took over from this point in the game. Game statistics were not available, but Kentucky outplayed the Soldiers in most respects. The passing and running game was superior to that shown by the men from "Gold Town", but the winner collects on touchdowns, not on the facts and figures.

The Kittens came up with a running game that excelled their passing performances, although they completed nine out of 19 passes which isn't too bad for freshmen playing their first game away from the friendly confines of the home lot.

Don Jirschele, 5' 11", 192 pound freshman from Clintonville, Wisconsin, provided the spark among the boys at certain periods in the game. Prior to Saturday night's game he saw brief action with the varsity against the Eagles from T. P. I. In the opening game on Stoli Field, There were other outstanding performers, but Don was more impressive throughout.

Line Buck Sees

Fort Knox scored the only touch-down of the game from four yards out. A 45 yard passed moved the ball to the four yard line and the Soldiers ran it over from there.

Along with the inexperience and a case of bad nerves displayed by McLendon's charges, the most glaring fault of the night was their weakness on pass defense.

With another week of practice behind them and a chance to look back on first game mistakes, the

Experiments Delay Work On New Practice Field

Five more acres of land have been added to the ever-growing athletic department's domain, but the experiments in inbred corn can be continued.

Has Had Many Uses

The land, purchased in 1885, has been used since that time by the Agriculture School. Among the uses have been the breeding of corn, fescue, orchard grass, bromegrass and white clover. Parts of it have even been used as a pasture for mules.

Dr. Weeks added that, "As yet, no replacement has been made for the land."

To Afford Three Fields

Mr. Bernie Shively, athletic director, said the land would be turned into three practice fields to be added to the space already in use. He also stated that it would take an additional month or more beyond the date of receipt to complete the necessary sodding, grading, and fencing.

Dr. Martin Weeks, head of the Agronomy Department, said the ownership of the land will be made as soon as the Agronomy Department can finish its two year rotation of corn for continuous breeding purposes. As to a positive date for the transaction, Dr. Weeks stated that the land couldn't possibly do better against the "B" squad from Georgia Tech.

"Tech" invades the Kentucky quarters at 8 o'clock Saturday night.
